From the desk of the General Secretary...

First, I would like to thank you once again for the very active and meaningful participation in the 18th General Assembly held in Penang last September.

Also, I would like to make special mention of our staff, Cristina Dalope, who has worked at APAY as Executive Secretary for Programs from April 2007 up to the end of this month, covering an entire quadrennial term. Her last work was to accomplish the General Assembly and Youth Assembly successfully, which she has done successfully. Her works in APAY focused on Youth Development, Gender Equity, Disaster Management, EASY Net, Advanced Studies Program, and APAY's eNews. This would be the last issue of eNews to be edited by her. Soon, she will be back to Philippines. Please all join me in thanking Cristina for her invaluable efforts these past 4 years and we wish her the best of everything in her future endeavors. We deeply appreciate the hard work, contributions, and harmonious relationship she built with us.

Cristina A. Dalope, Executive Secretary for Programs at APAY, (2007-2011)

Campus Y at Y's Men's Club Meeting

Last 20th October 2011, I attended our Y's Men's Club meeting here in Hong Kong. We invited young students who run YMCA activities in their university campuses. They call themselves 'The Council of Campus Y', which is an affiliate of YMCA of Hong Kong. Basically, Campus Y is the same with Uni-Y, College Y, and Student Y; they only differ in terms. The number of young people in several movements in Asia has been continuously growing. In each university, they have an organizational structure. Leaders and members of each Campus Y gather each time to plan and implement various community services. Sometimes they clean up beachside; some small groups visit poor communities for literacy trainings; some go to mainland China's poor villages and to teach English among children. Aside from that, they also travel to Korea, Vietnam, China, Philippines and other places to expose themselves and to further develop their projects based on the learning they acquired from those visits. Their projects are mostly supported by their fund-raising campaigns. The presenters were the key leaders in each campus. They did the presentation very well with pride and confidence in their activities and its accomplishments.

I felt that if we can further develop young people by intentionally forming various groups and activities with them; that could possibly empower more individuals. I sensed from the confidence of those young leaders, they would be the key leaders in their future works and/or can be a part of YMCA board or committees.

Now, APAY is preparing a new strategic plan for the next four years. I would like to focus our next four-year activities on youth development and participation in all YMCAs. All other works will be closely related and connected to this common goal. KOHEI YAMADA
